New User View the Help Tips that are specifically for this page... (Dash, or Validation, Exceptions etc.)

This replaces the tips that use to be in the header. It gives us a lot more space and looks nicer.

If user clicks on the bottom button "ATA Help" (or whatever it will be called, user will go to the main help page, where help will be sectioned logically ty topic. (A search on there would be nice too for later versions?)

The screenshot shows a modal window titled "Help Tips" with a lightbulb icon. The modal contains the following text: "Your documents are ready for review and validation...". Below this, there are two sections: "My Projects" (in green) with the text "You have been assigned the documents in this section." and "Projects Queue" (in blue) with the text "All reviewers will be fed documents from this queue. They are grouped by document type." At the bottom of the modal, there is a checkbox labeled "Hide Tips and Close" and a large blue button labeled "ATA Help". A close button (an 'x' in a square) is located in the top right corner of the modal. A dark blue button with a white question mark is visible in the top right corner of the overall dashboard area.
